

Note: This drawing shows examples of how some of the ideas of the work team and the architects could come together to create a new, attractive and more useful space. Any or all of these may be discarded or modified during the planning and design stages if they prove to be financially or architecturally unsound, or better or higher value ideas emerge.

